

Accounting

Thomas Elzinga

I am from Corvallis, OR in the beautiful Willamette Valley. I served a mission in the Guatemala, Guatemala City South mission. My wife, Aubri, and I were married in Portland, Oregon on February 14th, 2006. I began my university career in a different major and later decided that Accounting was a challenging enough profession that could enable me to advance in the business world so I soon transferred to Brigham Young University – Idaho from Oregon State University, Winter Semester 2007. I chose BYU-I specifically for the Accounting program. I heard good things about the program, and wanted to learn in a spiritual and challenging environment. I have had many great experiences in the Accounting department on campus including participating in the Accounting Society and helping others understand how important accounting is by tutoring. I have also recently returned from an internship with Deloitte in the Stamford, CT office and plan on pursuing a graduate degree and continue working in the Accounting profession.
