

James H. Quigley is Chief Executive Officer of Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu (Deloitte). Deloitte provides audit, tax, consulting, and financial advisory services to public and private clients in over 140 countries. Throughout his 34 years with Deloitte, Brother Quigley has taken on a number of leadership roles and built a distinguished track record of service to many multinational clients. Brother Quigley is regularly asked to share his perspective on global business trends at economic forums throughout the world.

Jeanette Waite Bennett and her husband Matt own Bennett Communications in Orem, Utah. They have 40 current magazines that are produced there, but their flagship publications are Utah Valley Magazine, BusinessQ, and Utah Valley Bride. Sister Bennett is a popular speaker in Utah Valley. She is a graduate of Ricks College and served as editor in chief of the Scroll for two consecutive semesters. She formerly worked for the New Era and the Deseret News.

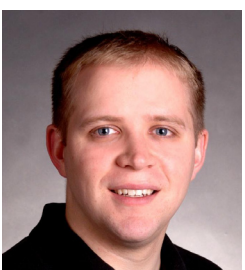

Scott Bird is an Analyst at J.P. Morgan in Los Angeles. Brother Bird is responsible for the creation and implementation of equity, hedge fund, private equity and fixed income portfolios for J.P. Morgan's private clients in Southern California. He began his career in New York City, where he completed both a co-op six-month internship and a summer internship for J.P. Morgan. He has been with J.P. Morgan for 2 ½ years. Brother Bird was the first president of the Newel K. Whitney Society at BYU-Idaho.

Roger G. Clarke is President of Ensign Peak Advisors, Inc., an investment management affiliate for The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. He currently serves as Chairman of the Board of Analytic Investors, Inc., a Los Angeles-based investment management firm and a member of the board of Deseret Trust Company, Bonneville Holding Corporation, and Deseret Mutual Insurance Company.

Joshua Cache Griffeth is the Middle Office Team Leader in the Credit Derivatives Group for Goldman Sachs. He became the first business student from BYU-Idaho to intern in New York City. He earned degrees from BYU-Idaho, and Black Hills State University. Following his graduation he accepted a full time position at J.P. Morgan in the Securities Services Division and moved his family to New York City. He joined Goldman Sachs in February 2006.

Spencer Jackson is an Information Technology Specialist for the Department of Commerce in Washington, D.C. He is a certified Information Systems Security Professional for the United States Government and Performs Federal Information Security Management Act compliance evaluations of government information systems. Brother Jackson is a Ricks College graduate.