Introduction

It is the mission of the Theatre and Dance Department at Brigham Young University-Idaho to:

- Promote dance that is wholesome, uplifting, of high artistic and technical merit, and consistent with the divinely directed standards of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints and the University.
- Provide opportunities for students to develop spiritually, artistically, intellectually and physically. This is accomplished through an emphasis on gospel principles, personal integrity, dedication, hard work, individual enrichment, and sensitivity to multiple perspectives.
- Furnish students with a versatile, yet quality movement-based and theoretical experience, establishing a foundation for a career in a dance-related field.
- Assist students in the discovery, development, and articulation of their own artistic and philosophical perspectives.
- Offer opportunities for students to use their skills and gifts to serve the Lord, the community, and their families.
- Challenge students to become individual thinkers, seek opportunities to serve, and pursue artistic endeavors that reflect a richly complex and diverse global orientation.

Degrees

The Theatre and Dance Department offers a Bachelor of Arts degree (B.A.) in Dance with two separate and unique areas of emphasis. The Choreography and Performance Emphasis (655-168) prepares students for career opportunities, or continued studies, as a performer and/or choreographer in contemporary dance. The Pedagogy Emphasis (655-169) prepares students for career opportunities, or continued studies, in teaching, directing, and research in a chosen style or area of focus. Both areas of emphasis require an application, proficiency audition, and interview.

In addition to these two options, the Dance Area also offers an Interdisciplinary Arts Concentration (D 131), a Minor (183), and a Cluster (5100) in dance studies, none of which have an audition requirement. These courses of study will provide the opportunity for students to gain the skills and understanding necessary to assist them in their dance-related career goals.

BA in Dance Degree Outcomes

It is expected that a graduate with a Bachelor of Arts degree in Dance will be able to:

- Identify and work conceptually with the physical, emotional, and theoretical elements of composition, style, pedagogy, and performance, based on their chosen area of emphasis.
- Demonstrate a fundamental knowledge of the body, based on applied kinesiology and/or somatic-centered understanding of movement principles, as well as culturally and historically constructed contexts within an LDS perspective
- Exhibit performance and/or instructional proficiency in chosen area of emphasis coupled with an awareness and appreciation of all genres of dance.
- Articulate and defend theoretical/artistic frameworks and analytical evaluations based on individual experience and synthesis within a diverse global context.
- Access opportunities to continue academic/performance studies at the graduate level and/or employment in instruction, choreography, and performance of dance in their chosen area of emphasis.

Successful graduates in dance are suited for a range of career options based on the chosen area of emphasis. Public and private schools, dance schools and studios, theatrical settings, arts organizations, and fitness centers are some of the many areas within which employment might be located. Besides work with movement technique, composition, improvisation, body conditioning, health and fitness, graduates may also be suited to work in areas of arts management/administration, public relations, personal consulting, dance criticism, and community and outreach work. With additional education and licensure, a successful graduate could proceed into higher education teaching, dance history, kinesiology, specialized dance and integrated movement therapy.

BA in Dance Continuance

The Department of Theatre and Dance has an open enrollment policy for all students seeking a BA in Dance. Each year, students enrolled as dance majors will participate in a jury process comprised of an interview with faculty members in conjunction with the student's area of emphasis. An important part of this evaluation will include the review of a portfolio of the student's activity and engagement in the Department and major classes. This process is meant to determine the student's progress and advancement within the degree program. Students must successfully pass all juries as required in order to advance. In addition to technical proficiency and achievement, advancement is also contingent upon department involvement, citizenship, and demonstrating personal responsibility. Situations resulting in a failure to complete or pass the jury process will be referred to mediation with faculty members to resolve related issues or seek an alternative degree program.

Due to the high standards of technical competence expected in the Choreography and Performance emphasis, students with this declared emphasis will attend a proficiency audition in their second year of study. This audition is intended to determine if the student has acquired the necessary benchmarks in ability to continue in the program. The proficiency audition process is comprised of a written statement, a movement performance and/or class, and an interview with faculty members. Written statements can be submitted to the Dance Office (MC 214) up to one week prior to the audition, the dates of which are posted on the department website. Students will be notified of the results within one week of the audition. Those who do not pass the proficiency audition will be changed to a Pedagogy emphasis unless other arrangements are made.

Incoming Student Course Sequence

Due to the length of time required to complete the BA in Dance and the necessary theoretical and physical skill acquisition, it is imperative that students begin immediately with their training. It is suggested that students in their first semester enroll in "Introduction to Dance Major and Professions" (DA 103) and two technique level courses (explained below). Students pursuing the Performance Emphasis are strongly encouraged to enroll in Modern Dance Technique I (DA 240) and Ballet Technique I (DA 290), and those in the Pedagogy Emphasis in a technique course in their chosen area.

Introductory and Technique Level Courses

Studio-based movement classes at the 100-level are considered introductory courses oriented toward students with little or no experience in that style or genre. Classes offered at the 200-level are considered technique-level I courses, oriented toward dancers with experience and focused on the proper technical and artistic execution of each given style. Upper division courses (300 and 400-level) are each considered subsequent levels to be followed in succession. Nevertheless, successful completion of one technique level does not ensure advancement to the proceeding level. Consultation with advisors and instructors, coupled with the jury process explained above, will guide each student to the appropriate level course.

Notwithstanding, enrollment in each level requires the successful completion of the previous level. However, students who enter the program with an appropriate level of skill and experience may petition the instructor of the desired level to waive the prerequisite for the course and thus enroll. Generally speaking the 100-level courses are not required as part of the degree requirements.

Academic Advising

Due to the intricacies of the track system coupled with the sequencing of dance course offerings, it is critical that degree seeking students meet early and often with the Advising Center (located in MC 376) and their assigned faculty advisor. Proper communication and planning can assist the student in executing the degree program with efficiency and suitability.

Performing Groups and Auditions

The Department of Theatre and Dance has two performing companies that provide opportunities for majors and non-majors alike to participate in performances both on campus and abroad. The Collegiate Dancers is a faculty mentored dance company where students in the areas of Ballroom, Contemporary, and World Dance have the opportunity to create and perform in Extravagance and other local performance/workshop settings. Dance Alliance is a faculty directed dance company where students have the opportunity to perform in Extravagance and represent the University and Church on an extended tour during the seven-week break in late summer.

Auditions for Dance Alliance are in January. Dance Alliance is a two-semester team operating on the Winter and Spring semesters. Auditions for Collegiate Dancers, which operates in Fall and Winter semesters, occur during the first two weeks of each of these semesters. Audition dates are posted on the Department website.

Dance

Brigham Young University–Idaho 2016-2017

DANCE 440R Modern Dance Technique III

(2:0:5:0)

Repeatable Course: May earn maximum of 8 credits

Prerequisite: DANCE 340R

Corequisite: DANCE 496R

Course Requirements: Dance Majors and Minors Only

This course explores modern dance using a variety of movement awareness methods in order to promote optimal efficiency and potential. Complex combinations and rhythms are studied through movement. Students will learn that improvisation is essential to movement discovery, technique development, and artistic application. Students will see that a Somatic approach to movement study is a consistently used approach. Final class assessment and success in completion of this course will be determined in the form of a jury held at the end of the semester.

(Fall, Spring)

DANCE 442R Choreographic Explorations

(2:0:4:0)

Repeatable Course: May earn maximum of 6 credits

Prerequisite: DANCE 242

This course encompasses the study, exploration, implementation, and examination of the dance making process at an advanced level of inquiry, creative thinking, and critical analysis in order to more articulately develop an understanding of movement as an expressive art form. It is also an opportunity for students to produce a final choreographic project that will incorporate the skills, knowledge, and experience acquired throughout their studies which will be presented in a live performance setting.

(Fall, Spring)

DANCE 443R Advanced Technique and Somatics

(3:0:7:0)

Repeatable Course: May earn maximum of 12 credits

Prerequisite: DANCE 340R

This course is designed to encourage students to expand their range of movement capabilities by discovering new possibilities in all places of motion and spatial orientation. The course promotes active participation with somatic movement concepts and modern dance vocabulary. Students will study their body movement as it copes with the environment by understanding how total body connectivity is the initiative for movement. Students will learn a kinesthetic understanding of how function effects form. This course will explore full body contact with partners, the floor and the space around them, center work, locomotion, and structured movement combinations. Through developed somatic approaches, students will learn how movements are designed to investigate relationships with space, correct alignment and efficiency, weight and momentum, the effects of gravity, and breath. Students will further their understanding of who they are as an individual and as an artist through daily reinvestment of the familiar and continual drive for the unknown.

(Winter)

DANCE 458R Teach Technique of Social Dance, Advanced

(2:2:0:0)

Repeatable Course: May earn maximum of 8 credits

Total Course Fees: $95.00

Prerequisite: DANCE 358

(Winter)

DANCE 478R Dance Alliance

(1-3:0:6:0)

Repeatable Course: May earn maximum of 9 credits

Total Course Fees: $25.00

Corequisite: Any 200-level or higher studio course

Course Requirement: Audition Required

Dance Alliance is a distinctive dance company representing BYU-Idaho that is dedicated to sharing the gospel through dance and using individual technical strength while engaging in a variety of dance genres in a mentored, professional performing experience. As students create dance for performances they will be bound by the 13th Article of Faith in music, costumes, and choreography which will be 'virtuous, lovely or of good report or praiseworthy.' The purpose of dancers and artists is to lift, inspire, and change the hearts of those who experience the performance. It is this alternative in dance that Dance Alliance will seek out. Check the Theatre and Dance Department website for audition and tour dates at www.byui.edu/theatreanddance

(Winter, Spring)

DANCE 484R Ballroom Technique 3

(2:0:5:0)

Repeatable Course: May earn maximum of 12 credits

DANCE 488R Collegiate Dancers

(1-3:0:6:0)

Repeatable Course: May earn maximum of 9 credits

Total Course Fees: $25.00

Corequisite: Any 200-level or higher studio course

Course Requirement: Audition Required

This course promotes recreational dancing, teaching, and performance. This outreach group will specialize in numerous styles of dance and perform both on and off campus. The department hopes students will receive a quality experience that will allow them to share dance in their communities as well as prepare for other performing opportunities. These students will be invited to strengthen their testimonies of the restored gospel in addition to developing their skill, performance, teaching, and team work abilities. Check the Theatre and Dance Department website for audition dates at www.byui.edu/dance

(Fall, Winter)

DANCE 495 Dance Kinesiology II

(3:3:0:0)

Prerequisite: DANCE 295

This course is an introduction to human anatomy and kinesiology. It consists of the study of human movement specific to dance, with emphasis on the anatomical principles and the laws of physics as they apply to dance technique and performance from the hip to the head. Studies include structural and neuromuscular analysis with individual analysis of alignment muscular imbalances, body types, conditioning needs, injury prevention, nutrition, somatics, and movement behavior.

(Fall, Spring)

DANCE 496R Somatics

(1:0:2:0)

Repeatable Course: May earn maximum of 8 credits

Prerequisites: DANCE 240R and DANCE 295

This course gives students the opportunity to learn about neuromuscular reeducation of the body as it pertains to dance education to promote optimal, healthy movement habits. It applies somatic techniques to enhance physical understanding, qualitative teaching voice, and compositional clarity.

(Fall)

DANCE 498R Internship

(1-3:0:0:0)

Repeatable Course: May earn maximum of 6 credits

Internship Fees: $81.50 (LDS) $163 (non-LDS) per credit

Exempt from tuition, but charged this independent course fee

The purpose of the internship is to provide real world experience linked with information and learning from courses taken at the university. The internship should aid the student in decisions about future careers in the dance world.
