Introduction

The goal of History at BYU-Idaho is to encourage students to develop a solid understanding of both American and World History, and to foster a sense of the complexities of human experience. This History Department offers BA degrees in History, History Education, and Social Studies Education Composite. The department also sponsors a chapter of Phi Alpha Theta, the National History Honor Society. Upon graduation students should have a capacity to do quality research using primary and secondary source materials—along with strong reading, writing, and critical thinking skills. In addition, History Education graduates should have developed a sizeable repertoire of lessons, pedagogies, and approaches to history for teaching at the secondary level.

Career Opportunities

Graduates in History are valued in any career in which research, critical thinking, nuanced understanding, or clear writing is necessary. Past graduates have successfully obtained employment in “non-history” fields as diverse as business, government, journalism, and law. Careers with a more specific history focus may be found in archives, libraries, museums, or national parks. More academically oriented students often pursue graduate education in History, English, foreign languages, or the humanities to name a few. And then there are, of course, teaching opportunities at secondary and higher education levels.

4+1 Program

Select students at BYU-Idaho may work towards a graduate degree in Historical Resources at Idaho State University while completing their BA in History at BYU-Idaho. Contact the Department for more information about this program.

Department Requirements

- Education Majors must maintain a 2.8 cumulative GPA
- Students must earn a C- or better in all courses.
- No double counting of Major courses.
