<input type="checkbox"/>	1. Learn about BYU-Idaho's Past and Present: The 'About BYU-I' link at www.byui.edu/prepare has been created to help interested students learn about what's happening now at BYU-Idaho and why we do what we do. Together with the rest of the site, it's a great introduction to what BYU-Idaho is all about.
<input type="checkbox"/>	2. Learn about Foundations and BYU-Idaho majors: Foundations is BYU-Idaho's newly designed general education curriculum. Learn more at www.byui.edu/foundations. Whether you've already identified your major or want to do more research, BYU-Idaho's course catalog is the place to go for curriculum requirements, course descriptions, and more. Check it out at www.byui.edu/catalog.
<input type="checkbox"/>	3. Learn about the BYU-Idaho Learning Model: BYU-Idaho emphasizes learning through personal preparation, teaching and learning together with your instructors and peers, and by pondering and proving the things you've learned through personal application. Learn more about the Learning Model, how you and your instructors apply it, and what current BYU-Idaho students are saying about this innovative learning strategy at www.byui.edu/learningmodel.
<input type="checkbox"/>	4. Find out about involvement/student life: Involvement outside of class is a big part of the BYU-Idaho experience! Find out what's going on at our events calendar (www.byui.edu/events), or find out how you can get involved in organizations like Activities, Cultural Associations, Academic Societies, Student Representative Council, and more at www.byui.edu/getinvolved.
<input type="checkbox"/>	5. Contact a current BYU-Idaho student: Through campus tours, online discussions, and more, BYU-Idaho Student Ambassadors volunteer to help prospective students get a current student's perspective on the life-changing experience that awaits them at BYU-Idaho. To contact a Student Ambassador, visit prepare.byui.edu/student/contact.shtml.
<input type="checkbox"/>	6. Check Admissions Requirements: Learn about what type of applicant you are, admission requirements, deadlines, the Three Track System, and more at www.byui.edu/admissions.
<input type="checkbox"/>	7. Read BYU-Idaho's Foundational Addresses: BYU-Idaho is an institution of prophecy. To gain a perspective on how this understanding shapes the atmosphere of BYU-Idaho, we recommend reading the BYU-Idaho Foundational Addresses, found at www.byui.edu/StudentAmbassadors/foundational.htm.
<input type="checkbox"/>	8. Take a campus tour and/or read up on Student Services at BYU-Idaho: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Tours: There's no better way to feel the 'Spirit of Ricks' than by visiting campus! Free campus tours can be arranged by calling (208) 496-1022. Campus Visit Days for prospective students are also held frequently throughout the year; learn more at www.byui.edu/visitcampus. • Student Services: If you can't make it to campus personally, familiarize yourself with important campus services to know why BYU-Idaho receives top rankings for its supportive campus environment. A complete list of departments and services is found at www.byui.edu under the 'Directories' link. We recommend starting with: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li style="width: 50%;">Admissions <li style="width: 50%;">Student Financial Aid <li style="width: 50%;">Housing <li style="width: 50%;">Student Records & Registration <li style="width: 50%;">Career & Academic Advising <li style="width: 50%;">Get Connected (orientation) <li style="width: 50%;">Student Honor Office <li style="width: 50%;">Student Health Center <li style="width: 50%;">Academic Learning (tutoring and learning assistance).
<input type="checkbox"/>	9. Research local scholarships: Many organizations near you likely contribute to scholarship funds. Insurance companies, civic organizations, booster clubs, local and national businesses, and more can all be great resources for scholarships. Ask your high school counseling office, the people you and your family do business with, and other organizations and businesses near you if they contribute to scholarship funds and how you can apply. This can be a great way to add to your college funds!
