Introduction

The English Department offers a BA degree in English and BA degrees in English Education and English Education Only Field. Minors are available in English and English Education. The student organization, the English Academic Society (EAS), sponsors various activities, including a Pre-Professional Conference, monthly lectures and workshops, regular excursions to undergraduate conferences, and frequent socials. The department sponsors Outlet, a publication of student writing. English majors are encouraged to participate in these opportunities and to complete an internship in the field (English 398R, 1-6 credits).

The English curriculum divides into four areas: Literary Studies, Professional Writing, Creative Writing, and English Education. Students should keep in mind their professional and academic goals and select classes that support those goals.

Literary Studies

Literary Studies focuses on critical thinking as well as interpreting and analyzing literature. Course work includes British and American literary history, genre and author studies, ethnic and world literature, and rhetorical and literary theory. Literary Studies prepares students for further graduate study in English or other professional programs. Students who are considering graduate school in English should complete 8 - 11 credits in one foreign language.

Professional Writing

Professional Writing focuses on writing, editing, formatting, and producing documents. Course work includes computer applications, publication design, and editing, with special attention to genres specific to technical communication. Professional Writing students gain hands-on experience writing, editing, and preparing texts for publication. Students with a professional writing emphasis will prepare to work as writers for business and industry or as freelance writers.

Creative Writing

Creative Writing focuses on writing original works of poetry, fiction, drama, and nonfiction. Course work includes the study of literary genre and creative writing within a workshop setting. This emphasis culminates with English 418R Creative Writing and Publishing, a course which provides students an opportunity to submit works for publication and prepare issues of Outlet for publication. More often a vocational pursuit, creative writing can contribute to careers in education, editing, publishing, and professional and freelance writing.

English Education - First Field and English Education - Only Field

The English Education degrees focus on educational theories and methods for teaching literature and composition in the public school classroom, grades 6-12. Coursework includes an introductory English module, a literature module, and an English module. Students in English Education – First Field then select 12 additional credits of English courses. Students in English Education – First Field complete an education minor. Both degrees require a Teacher Education Core, which includes student teaching.

Outlet: The BYU-Idaho Literary and Art Journal
Outlet is a literary journal published in conjunction with the Art Department. It features creative works written by students. Submissions are reviewed and selected by a senior-level editorial board. Those interested in submitting their poetry, fiction, creative nonfiction, or drama can find submission forms at http://www.byui.edu/english/students/calls-for-papers/outlet.

Graduation Requirement

For major and minor courses a letter grade of C- is required as a minimum grade.

Writing Center

Qualified peer Writing Assistants, under the supervision of the Writing Center Director, work individually with students in free, confidential writing sessions (for more information see http://www.byui.edu/writingcenter). English majors who complete English 325 are welcome to apply as writing assistants.

Course Descriptions

FDENG 101 Writing and Reasoning Foundations (3:3:0:0)
Prerequisites: ACT English score of at least 16 or SAT English score of at least 400 or (ENG 106 with a grade of C or higher) or (ENG 109 with a grade of B or higher)
An introduction to academic inquiry and writing, laying the foundation for further academic and professional development. Students will learn to think and read critically and practice the writing process, including invention, research, summary, synthesis and analysis, revision, and editing. Students will work on several major writing assignments, including a research project in which they will gather information from a range of valid sources, demonstrating they can analyze and use that information purposefully, following appropriate documentation.

FDENG 301 Advanced Writing and Research (3:3:0:0)
Prerequisite: FDENG 101
Course Requirement: 22 credits
Students learn how to reason carefully and express ideas clearly. Students develop these competencies as they learn to recognize strong arguments, uncover assumptions, evaluate evidence, recognize rhetorical patterns, and infer ideas from data. To apply their understanding of these skills, students write summaries, essays synthesizing ideas from diverse sources, critiques of arguments, and research papers that focus on issues relevant to their majors. (Fall, Winter, Spring)

ENG 151 Introduction to Literature (3:3:0:0)
This course introduces literary genre such as short story, novel, poetry, and drama. Skilled reading, analysis, and appreciation of significant examples of literature are emphasized. (Fall, Winter, Spring)

ENG 218 Creative Writing (3:3:0:0)
Course Requirement: 25 Credits
This introductory course focuses on the creation of original works of poetry, drama, fiction, and non-fiction for students with a creative writing emphasis for English majors. (Fall, Winter, Spring)

ENG 251 Fundamentals of Literary Interpretation (3:3:0:0)
Prerequisites: FDENG 101 or COMM 111
Course Requirement: English Majors and Minors
This course introduces literary genres such as fiction, poetry, drama, and literary theory for English and Humanities majors and minors. (Fall, Winter, Spring)

ENG 252 Fundamentals of Research and Presentation (3:3:0:0)
Prerequisites: FDENG 101 or COMM 111
Course Requirement: 22 Credits
This course focuses on written and visual rhetoric, using multiple technologies to deliver and enhance a variety of texts aimed at various audiences. Students research a major issue in English studies, then use written and visual rhetoric to adapt the research to various audiences in a variety of texts (including desktop publishing and web authoring). Most effective if taken during the sophomore year. (Fall, Winter, Spring)

ENG 290R Special Projects (1-3:1:0:0)
Repeatable Course: May earn a maximum of 9 credits
This course is an arranged course that requires Department Chair approval. (Fall, Winter, Spring)

ENG 314 Advanced Research and Literary Analysis (3:3:0:0)
Prerequisites: (FDENG 101 or COMM 111) and (ENG 251 or ENG 252 or COMM 130)
Course Requirement: 22 Credits
This course emphasizes literature-based expository and research writing for analytical essays including explication, literary analysis, interpretation, and a research paper. (Fall, Winter, Spring)

ENG 316 Advanced Writing and Technical Communication (3:3:0:0)
Prerequisites: FDENG 101 or COMM 111
Course Requirement: 22 Credits
This course emphasizes accuracy and skill in writing scientific pamphlets, articles, reports, and memoranda to prepare students to write a research paper. (Fall, Winter, Spring)

ENG 318R Advanced Creative Writing (3:3:0:0)
Repeatable Course: May earn maximum of 6 credits
Prerequisites: ENG 218
Course Requirement: 22 Credits
This course focuses on the creation of original writing in fiction, poetry, drama, or creative non-fiction. Students may repeat this course for credits and should see schedule for specific offerings. (Fall, Winter, Spring)

ENG 321 Technology for Professional Writers (3:3:0:0)
Prerequisites: FDENG 301 and (COMM 130 or ENG 252)
Course Requirement: 22 Credits
This course will help students develop expertise in professional writing with an emphasis on the industry-standard tools professional writers use (i.e., websites, help-authoring software, presentation and simulation software, and page-design programs). (Fall, Winter, Spring)

ENG 325 Language Theory - Grammar and Usage (3:3:0:0)
Prerequisites: FDENG 101 or COMM 111
Course Requirement: 22 Credits
This course introduces the study of the English language with an emphasis on grammar, usage, and semantics with an overview of history and editing. (Fall, Winter, Spring)

ENG 326 Editing (3:3:0:0)
Prerequisites: ENG 325 and (COMM 111 or FDENG 101)
In this course students will develop expertise in comprehensive editing, copy editing, and proofreading. Students will be provided with practical experience through service learning opportunities and learn how to document production and design. (Fall, Winter, Spring)

ENG 327 History of English Language (3:3:0:0)
Course Requirement: 30 Credits
