Introduction

Ours is a world in which all types of formal and informal interaction between peoples of varied backgrounds and languages is increasingly possible and important. During this era of rapid globalization, more than ever before everyone can benefit from the vital skills of languages, cultural knowledge, and global competency. In the Doctrine and Covenants we are counseled to learn “of things which are at home [and] things which are abroad: the wars and the perplexities of the nations, and the judgments which are on the land; and a knowledge also of countries and of kingdoms—that ye may be prepared in all things when I shall send you again to magnify the calling whereunto I have called you, and the mission with which I have commissioned you” (Doctrine and Covenants 88:79-80). We are further counseled in the 90th Section to “study and learn, and become acquainted with all good books, and with languages, tongues, and people” (Doctrine and Covenants 90:15).

International Studies (major, minor, and cluster)

The purpose of the International Studies program (major, minor, and cluster) is to provide an avenue for students wishing to maximize the opportunity for linguistic and international competence while developing a disciplinary specialty that would allow them to enter the workforce directly or to prepare them for graduate school in a number of different disciplines or professions.

This degree is unique in its modular structure, including a core in Economics, History, Geography, and Political Science, area studies in culture, and the flexibility to choose a minor or clusters. Students must demonstrate language proficiency at the third-year level. Students may also take a minor or cluster in International Studies.

Languages (major, minors and clusters)

The Department of Languages and International Studies at BYU-Idaho helps students to build speaking, listening, reading, and writing skills, as well as cultural awareness, in five languages from the beginning to advanced level (Chinese, French, German, Russian, and Spanish). Programs exist to meet student needs in the following areas:

Majors

Spanish Education
International Studies

Education Minors

Chinese, French, German, Russian, Spanish, or TESOL education

Minors

- Single language - Chinese, French, German, Russian, Spanish, TESOL
- Area - Asian Languages, European Languages, Latin American Languages, Slavic and East European Languages, World Languages
- Multi-Lingual - Afrikans, Albanian, Arabic, Armenian, Bulgarian, Cambodian, Cantonese, Cebuano, Croatian, Czech, Danish, Dutch, Estonian, Farsi-Persian, Fijian, Finnish, Greek (modern), Haitian-Creole, Hungarian, Icelandic, Ilonggo/Hiligaynon, Indonesian, Italian, Japanese, Korean, Latvian, Lithuanian, Malagasy, Mongolian, Navajo, Norwegian, Polish, Portuguese, Romanian, Samoan, Serbian, Swedish, Tagalog, Thai, Tongan, Ukrainian, and Vietnamese.
- International Studies

These minors are not available to native speakers of these languages. Students who wish to minor in these languages must first pass the BYU FLATS exam in their language of study.

Credit by Exam

Returned missionaries and others with extensive non-academic foreign language experience may test out of 101, 102 and 201 and begin their studies at the 202 level (302 for Spanish). For information about foreign language credit by exam, visit our department website at <http://www.byui.edu/languages-international-studies>. Native speakers are ineligible for these exams.

Because credit and time constraints are tight, students with high school language experience should begin their studies at the highest level possible. For more information, visit or email a teacher in the language you wish to study.

Bachelor of Arts Foreign Language and Previous General Education Requirement

Students earning Bachelor of Arts degrees on the previous G.E. program need to take an eleven-hour sequence of courses in one of the following languages:

- Chinese 102, 201, and 347
- French 102, 201, and 202
- German 102, 201, and 202
- Russian 102, 201, and 340
- Spanish 102, 201, and 202 or 302

Native speakers should begin at the 321 level in French, German and Spanish and at the 301 level in Chinese and at the 202 level in Russian. However, if the native speaker is an education major or education minor in a language, he or she should begin studies at the 202 level (302 in Spanish). Non-native speakers working in other foreign languages may fulfill this requirement by testing out of at least eight credits in the language and then taking Language 410.

Note: If you are interested in obtaining a language teaching minor (which requires proof of language proficiency on the Praxis exam) and you have not already lived in the target country, it is strongly recommended that you participate in a semester abroad or equivalent program.
